RE: Post-election Observations

We have heard different stories relating to our students' reactions to the Presidential election. Some teachers have expressed concern. We have also been contacted by Education Week relating to these concerns.

Please email sumhauer@btfny.org with some of the reactions of your students to the election and how you have dealt with them.

We may be sending some of your concerns to our state and national affiliates so that they can provide members with suggestions as to how best to handle any continuing concerns.
